DOCUMENT RESUME

ED 470 730 SP 041 212

TITLE	Videos for Teachers: Successful Teaching Strategies in Elementary and Middle School Classrooms. [CD-ROM].
INSTITUTION	Teachers Network, New York, NY.
PUB DATE	2001-00-00
NOTE	0p.; For the CD-ROM on middle and high school, see SP 041 217.
AVAILABLE FROM	Teachers Network, 285 West Broadway, Suite 540, New York, NY 10013 ($19.95). Tel: 212-966-5582; e-mail: info@teachersnetwork.org; Web site: http://www.teachersnetwork.org.
PUB TYPE	Guides - Non-Classroom (055) -- Non-Print Media (100)
EDRS PRICE	Document Not Available From EDRS.
DESCRIPTORS	Academic Standards; Action Research; Art Education; Classroom Techniques; Curriculum Development; Elementary Education; Humanities Instruction; *Lesson Plans; Mathematics Education; Middle Schools; Planning; Science Education; *Teaching Methods; Videotape Recordings

ABSTRACT

This CD-ROM provides information on successful teaching strategies for elementary and middle school teachers. One section offers links to curriculum and lesson planning strategies in the areas of English as a Second Language, library, arts, classroom management, English/language arts, foreign languages, global education, health/physical education, instructional inquiry, mathematics, relations, service learning, special education, technology, and business education. Another section offers tips in such areas as getting started, adapting teaching style to student learning style, teacher-family relationships, professional development, and early literacy education. The CD-ROM provides links to five videos entitled: "Real Math" (math staff development and best practices in teaching math); "Energy Transfer" (a collaborative science project); "Monsters and Myths" (a humanities unit for middle school students); "The Bleeding Edge" (a thematic interdisciplinary art project that uses the theme of blood and circulation); and "Fishbowl" (using action research to achieve standards). (SM)

Reproductions supplied by EDRS are the best that can be made from the original document.